ARWATER CASE MOUT PARALLEL, SAYS JUDGE NOEL

Refuses Application for Warrant for Clerk Baker of the Executive Council.

NO PRECEDENT TO GUIDE COURT AS TO AUTHORITY

Tangled Election Case Develops Strange Tangent at Hearing of Case in Court this Morning when Warrant is Asked.

A situation unprecedented in Canadian legal history arose at the hearing before Judge Noel today of the appeal on the Clearwater election recount, when, on the refusal of Donald Baker, clerk of the executive council, to produce the papers in connection with the election, which had been lodged with him by the returning officer, H. W. Mackie, acting in behalf of A. Williamson, the conservative, asked for a warrant for Mr. Baker's commitment to the custody of the court. The application was refused by Judge Noel, and Mr. Mackie stated that he would take his appeal to the supreme court at its sitting on next week.

Before the hearing of witnesses in the appeal, Frank Ford, K. C., acting in behalf of H. W. Mackie, the elected member in the Clearwater election, stated that Judge Noel had no authority to hear the appeal at all. Explaining his reasons for the position which he took up, Mr. Ford stated that on May 15th Judge Noel had issued an order authorizing a recount at Clyde on May 19th. That recount was not held and Mr. Ford maintained that the Alberta Election act provided that all adjournments of recounts must be made from day to day. As the required procedure had not been carried out, Mr. Ford stated that all proceedings for a recount had lapsed, and that the election was over. It was true, said Mr. Ford, that the writ of mandamus granted by Mr. Justice Beetz had purported to stay the recount proceedings, but Judge Noel's position was now functus officio.

Judge Noel stated that he had decided that the clause applying to form to day adjournments did not apply to the Clearwater case. He pointed out, he said, had been postponed because of his absence from the city, and Judge Noel stated that he had decided that a candidate could not be deprived of his right to a recount simply because of the absence of a judge. Mr. Ford's contention was accordingly set aside, and the appeal continued.

Joseph Clarke, independent candidate, who appeared in his own behalf, stated that he had himself sealed the ballot boxes in the Clearwater election, and the law required that when ballot boxes were sealed by a candidate, and on appeal allowed, the seal would not be broken except by the returning officer. Mr. Clarke stated that he had no such order, Mr. Clarke stated the boxes had been opened by some person, and he asked that the judge should render that fact.

Mr. Baker had accepted service of a subpoena ordering him to produce in court all papers in connection with the Clearwater election, which had been handed over to him, as clerk of the executive council, by John McKernacher, the returning officer. Mr. Baker stated that he had not brought the papers, in explanation, Mr. Baker stated that he had been advised by counsel that he had no right to bring the papers, as they had been handed over to him, not in his private capacity, but in his official position as clerk of the executive council.

Mr. Mackie maintained that, in defiance of the law, the returning officer had turned in to Mr. Baker certain papers which he was required to keep. In view of Mr. Baker's failure to produce the papers, Mr. Mackie asked Judge Noel that the hearing of the appeal be adjourned sine die, and the application was granted.

Immediately on the adjournment of the hearing, Mr. Mackie asked Judge Noel for a warrant to commit Baker to the custody of the North West Mounted Police, or to impose a fine, as the court might see fit, for contempt of court.

HUERTA THOUGHT NOT LIKELY NOW TO BE CANDIDATE

Washington, Sept. 8.—While announcements were made at any of the government departments today of any change in the situation attracted much attention in official circles.

One was the published disclaimer on the part of Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American chargé d'affaires at Mexico City, that any positive assurances had been given him of the intention of Huerta not to be a candidate in the approaching elections.

The other was the receipt of private telegrams from sources close to the administration in Mexico City stating that General Trevino would be made minister of war soon to succeed General Blanquet.

It has been generally supposed here that Trevino was ordered back to Mexico City by Huerta to be the reins of government as provisional president while Huerta entered the presidential campaign.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy incidentally disclosed the fact that the Mexican officials had supplemented the argument of Senator Gammon by the calling attention to Huerta's ineligibility by verbal references to the fact of the not A. Williamson.

This further encourages Washington officials to believe that the Huerta candidacy will not materialize.

The judge noted that Murray had been in the city for three years in his senses at the time through drink saved him from being given the lash.

DEATH AND INJURY IN FRIGHTED RIDE DOWN COAL SHAFT

One Man is Killed, Another's Back is Broken and Other Cut and Bruised.

MEN DASHED INTO MINE IN CAR WITH NO CABLE

Engineer Knew Accident was Happening when Heard Carriage Rushing on Without Being Attached.

Drumheller, Alta., Sept. 8.—Harry Holden was instantly killed and another man was injured in a frightful accident at the Drumheller collieries last night when going down in a cable car, the full length of the incline at frightful speed.

Holden was thrown against the side of the shaft and was dead when picked up. Whelanoff, suffered internal injuries and a broken back. Thomas Mocking, third man in the car, was bruised and cut.

The mine has an incline shaft of some 250 feet, which has not as yet been put into active operation, although there is a night shift on duty to keep things in shape.

The three men had shoved the car with cable attached to the edge of the dump. Two of them had entered and the third, Holden, was giving the car the final shove before starting down.

In some manner the cable became unhooked from the car, and the car, everything in it, he sprang into the car to meet death a few seconds later. For the car cut loose from all early control, shot down the incline at a tremendous speed, striking the edge of the coal at 90 feet from the bottom, breaking up the car and taking the life of one and injuring two.

One man whose name is unknown failed to enter the car on account of moving too slowly.

The accident is doubly sad because the engineer was a brother of one of the men injured, and knew as soon as he heard the car speeding to destruction without taking up the cable that disaster had occurred.

Constable Paris, of the R.N.W.M.P., was soon on the spot. The injured men were taken to the Graham's office. The body of Holden was placed in the office of the mine foreman Corcoran, who was waiting for a train from Minson, arrived on a gravel train a short time after the accident.

ASSURE FRENCH MONEY IS SAFE

Central Railway of Canada say Interest on Coupons Will Be Paid Sept. 15.

London, Sept. 8.—In consequence of the uneasiness that is being displayed on this side regarding the French bondholders of the Central railway of Canada, the London representatives of the company, on behalf of its president, say that there appears to be no doubt that all coupons of the French bonds have been paid except the last, and that the delay which has arisen is entirely owing to the voluntary liquidation of La Banque Alsacienne de Paris. It is however, definitely stated that this coupon, which fell due in July, will be paid on or about September 15.

So much French money is being invested in Canada, particularly west of the great lakes, and the small French investor attaches so much importance to the regular clipping and cashing in of his interest coupons, that the official delay which has arisen is entirely owing to the voluntary liquidation of La Banque Alsacienne de Paris. It is however, definitely stated that this coupon, which fell due in July, will be paid on or about September 15.

EMPLOYEES WILL MEET THE WOR

Street Railway Men Hope to Reach Agreement With Commissioners at Meeting Today.

The employees of the street railway have arranged a meeting with the mayor and commissioners this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when they will present their claims. The men are asking for an additional 2-1/2 cents an hour and a closed shop. The commissioners and the superintendent have been getting information since the agreement expired on August 24th, and it appears that the wages paid in Edmonton are equal, and in some cases better than in other cities. This, leading the case, it is not at all likely that any of the demands made by the street men will be recognized at this time.

The superintendent states that he does not look for any difficulty and believes that the men will agree to a reasonable proposition. After the meeting this afternoon the men will decide what course they intend taking.

RING LEADERS OF JAPANESE MOBS PUT IN PRISON

Tokio, Sept. 8.—The police arrested the ring leaders of the mobs which were assembling to hold another mass meeting here today and the meeting was not held. Premier Yamamoto resolved the organizers of yesterday's meeting, and informed them that there was no necessity of sending armed forces to China at present.

Anarchistic expressions, in connection with the killing of Japanese at Nanking last night, were suppressed today of the Nippon shimbun, an independent newspaper.

The Journal asserted that the punishment of spies of Yuan Shih Kai, the Chinese president, had just commenced, that the murder of Director Abe, of the Japanese foreign office, was "heavenly judgment," and that other assassinations would follow.

The Japanese cabinet are being constantly prodded by detectives. The assassination of Director Abe, the Japanese foreign office, was "heavenly judgment," and that other assassinations would follow.

Fifteen thousand persons gathered in mass meetings in Tokyo today, calling for military action against China. A majority of these marched to the foreign office and clamored for admission.

A second mass meeting was held arranged, and at its conclusion a great crowd proceeded to the foreign office. Windows were not smashed and the gates of the foreign office, the train cars, and automobiles were stoned.

MRS. PANKHURST MAY BE KEPT OUT OF UNITED STATES

Authorities Inquiring Regarding British Suffragette's Militancy.

WILL DECIDE IF SHE IS AN UNDESIRABLE ALIEN

Point is Whether What She Has Done Can be Considered as Moral Turpitude Within Meaning of Law.

Washington, D.C., Sept. 8.—Before Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the British militant suffragettes, can be admitted to the United States in October, the time set in the latest announcement for her coming, the immigration authorities will decide whether any of the acts for which she has been imprisoned in England constitute moral turpitude within the meaning of the law and make her an undesirable alien.

She will be held at all times in port so lands, but whether eventually she may be permitted to enter will be decided by the immigration authorities.

To the immigration authorities, Mrs. Pankhurst's visit here presents at this time purely a hypothetical question as to whether she is an undesirable alien.

Officials of the department of labor now are seeking all obtainable information concerning the British suffragette's militant activities that may have a legal bearing upon her right to admission to the United States.

TRIPLE DROWNING AT SAULT SAINT MARIE

Residents of Canadian Soo Meet Death at Michigan Summer Resort While Boating on Lake Superior.

Sault Ste. Marie, Sept. 8.—News of a triple drowning, in which two of the victims were residents of this city, reached here last night from Sault Ste. Marie, a summer resort on the Michigan side, a few miles from the Soo.

The drowned: Albert Barber, 50, Ont.; Mrs. Barber, 45, Ont.; and Mr. Robert Anderson, 30, Mich.

The party had been out in a launch only a short time, when a heavy windstorm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, came up without warning. The launch was overturned. The accident was witnessed from the veranda of the Elliott hotel, and in spite of the heavy sea running a launch was sent to the rescue.

LOUIS H. TOLSON.
Baltimore, Sept. 8.—When Charles B. McPherson, of Annapolis, while returning from Baltimore to the west and cotton schedules last Saturday, had his foot crushed under the wheel of a train at Annapolis, Md., he was taken to the Annapolis hospital, where the legs were amputated.

NO THREAT IS HEARD AGAINST HIM THIS TRIP

Small Crowd Present When He Arrives from Montreal Makes no Sound

DISPERSES QUIETLY, AND GOES TO COURT

Prediction that the Charge Will Be Dismissed on a Technicality in Misstating Place of Gambling.

Outlook, Sept. 8.—The arrest at Montreal Friday of William Travers Jerome, representing the state of New York, may assume an international aspect.

A small crowd greeted him in silence. He made no statement and was taken at once to his hotel, Samuel Jacob, S.C., of Montreal, chief counsel for New York state in its fight to return Harry K. Thaw to Matleware accused assassin of Dr. James H. McGraw.

They alighted from the train almost directly beneath the window of the detention room where Thaw is held. It was raining and there were not more than 40 ladies at the station.

Notwithstanding the open hostility that has been shown to Jerome here, no threat was heard today.

The crowd dispersed quietly and went toward the court house where the hearing was to be held at 10 o'clock. It was predicted that the charge would be dismissed on a technicality in that it specified that Jerome played cards "in a railroad station," when in fact a matter of fact was more than 50 feet from the station.

MAY MAKE AN APOLOGY.

Outlook, Sept. 8.—The arrest at Guelph Friday of William Travers Jerome, representing the state of New York, may assume an international aspect.

It is understood that circumstances of the arrest will be looked into by the department of justice and if it should be found that the arrest of Jerome was not in strict accordance with the law, an apology will be tendered the state of New York.

It is being pointed out that if the officials who brought about the arrest of Jerome were particularly anxious for the morals of the community, they should have taken into consideration those who were participating in the game with the New York attorney.

The arrest of Jerome has caused considerable discussion in official circles, connected with the Thaw affair here, and it is expected that New York will conduct an inquiry into the matter.

UP TO PARLIAMENT.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—An error in the matter of securing the liberation of Harry Thaw on bail will be made before the local court of law, and will constitute an inquiry into the matter.

The whole litigation will resolve itself into discussion of the question as to whether the Canadian immigration bureau is or is not constitutional. The Thaw lawyers will contend that the act in its present form contains an infringement of the right of the individual to free locomotion. They will also represent the enactment as embodying an infringement of the magna carta, as well as of the magna charta.

This is seen that the scope of the case is widened to such an extent that the dominion parliament, the constitutionality of whose enactment is placed in jeopardy will be directly interested.

May Be Sensational.

The possibility that the Thaw case may develop, before its close, into one of the most sensational, unparaphrased by any of his trials in the many years he has been suggested by one of Thaw's counsel.

"If the Canadian people were to give Thaw up, before his case had been heard, word would be heard about him except his death and that at no remote period."

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Carnegie, Thaw's brother-in-law and sister, arrived in Montreal last night. Their son, Harry Carnegie, said to have come out last Thaw

For Croupy Children Keep 'Nerviline' Handy It Positively Brings Children Out of Danger and Relieves at Once

A MOTHER TELLS HER EXPERIENCE

"Bringing up young children has its responsibilities under the best of circumstances," writes Mrs. E. G. Fagan of Holmes' Corners, "but croupy colds add considerably to the worry. My little family of four all went through the croupy era, but I always had Nerviline on hand and never felt nervous. I just followed the directions and can tell you that nothing I know of is surer to cure croupy colds than Nerviline."

"In our home we use Nerviline freely. For cold in the chest, pleurisy, hoarseness, etc. It is simply wonderful. My husband uses it for rheumatism, and I often employ it for neuralgia and sick headache. Nerviline has so many uses that no mother can afford to be without it."

The large family size bottle, which sells at 50c, is the most economical; trial size 25c. Your druggist or nearest dealer sells Nerviline, which is prepared by The Cataractine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Guaranteed Rupture Holder On 60 Days Trial

Won't Cost You A Cent If The Two Months Test
Doesn't Prove All Our Claims

Away With Worthless Trusses Like These

You can make a thorough proof-to-it test of the guaranteed rupture holder without having to risk a single cent. Just send it to you for sixty days trial. We'll send it to you that long just to prove to yourself how it takes all the aches and pains out of your groin. In 10 to 15 days you will know for sure that it will keep you from coming out or bothering you in any way. If you are not satisfied, return it to us. If it doesn't cost you a penny.

The Only Thing Good Enough to Stand Such a Test

You know as well as I that a mere truss is like a drug store can't possibly prove whether a truss or anything else for rupture is going to do you good or harm.

Neither is it just a few days trial a safe test. A truss or anything else that has been seen alright the first week or so and then returned to be no good whatever.

But you can't possibly make a mistake if you use the guaranteed rupture holder. It will keep you from coming out in any way. If you are not satisfied, return it to us. If it doesn't cost you a penny.

Made on New Principle

The Clute Truss is so radically different from everything else for rupture that it has received a new name. It is not a truss, but an absolutely new principle—far more than just a truss.

Will Give You Satisfaction

A rupture can't possibly be relieved—can even be kept from growing worse—unless protected against all strains and

ADMIRAL PATEY'S LOUD IN PRAISE OF AUSTRALIAN POLICY

Emphatic in His Declaration that the Idea for the Navy is Right.

SAYS IT IS BASED ON VERY SOUND PRINCIPLE

London, Sept. 8.—Admiral Patey, commander-in-chief of the Australian fleet, was given a rousing send-off at Durban, South Africa, Saturday. The admiral in an interview was emphatic in declaring that the navy policy adopted by Australia was undoubtedly the right one. It was based, he said, on a very sound principle, that of growth in size and number proceeding together with the entry and education of the personnel, and the equipment of the harbors and naval bases.

Of course, Admiral Patey said, the dominions have to decide for themselves the best way in which they can contribute to empire defence and what is suitable for one dominion may not suit another. The distance from the mainland, the length and character of the coast line, and strategic position and population, all have to be considered as factors in deciding what is the best way for the dominions to defend themselves. Admiral Patey's scheme excluded, and most soundly built up.

The individual independence of the dominions need never clash with the unity of the empire as a whole. Admiral Patey scouted the idea that the British jack tars would be more favorably treated than the Australians.

"I said when the ship was commissioned," he pointed out, "that there should be no dividing line drawn between the Australians and the Englishmen, and no comparison has been made so far as I could hear of it. There are officers and men of the royal Australian navy, and I arrive in Australia waters. I shall have a certain number of ships under my command, and most of these early commissioned. I shall treat them in the same way as I should a similar squadron under my command in England."

BRITISH EXHIBIT IS GOING TO BE SEEN AT SAN FRANCISCO

If Government Refuses, Anglo-American Committee Will Fill Breach.

PART OF CELEBRATION OF PEACE CENTENARY

Lord Kinnore Shares the Regret Regarding the Decision Not to Participate Officially at Exposition.

London, Sept. 8.—Lord Kinnore, chairman of the executive committee of the Anglo-American Exposition to be held in London next year as part of the hundred years peace celebration, has written a letter to the Times, saying that should the government persist in its refusal to take official part in the Panama exposition, the committee of the Anglo-American exposition will be ready to step into the breach to undertake the work of organizing and managing the British section at San Francisco.

Lord Kinnore says: "Will you grant me space to express how fully I share the general regret that Great Britain will not participate officially in the Panama exhibition at San Francisco? The government's refusal to participate will undoubtedly cast a shadow over the centenary celebration of Anglo-American peace which will be held with great rejoicing next year on this side of the Atlantic. Anglo-American unity and trade value far in excess of any sum required for British representation, a sum for which, in the light of our vastly increasing trade, is a mere bagatelle."

"I am convinced that a majority of the people in the United Kingdom favor an appropriation for this purpose and I hope his majesty's government may yet see a way to gratify our kinship of the great republic. Should the event unhappily prove that the government considers that insupportable a position, rather than that those facilities to intending exhibitors which the government can best extend shall not be entirely lacking, the committee of the Anglo-American exposition is ready to step into the breach and undertake the part of organizing and managing the British section of the Panama exhibition at San Francisco in 1915."

REPORTED TROUBLE IN LISBON IS VERY GRAVE

Garrisons of Many Forts Throughout Portugal Have Been Strengthened

London, Sept. 8.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Telegraph wires: "Reports filtered through here late last evening concerning serious disturbances at Lisbon, but up to the time of telegraphing I have been unable to obtain definite details of confirmation."

"If serious disturbances, it is added, have occurred in the Portuguese capital."

Madrid, Sept. 8.—The correspondence from all parts of the kingdom of Spain prints a report that grave events are happening in Portugal, but gives no details in connection. The gates of the city are closed at sunset and the streets regularly patrolled.

ABANDONING DEFENSE OF A BLUNDER WHICH HAS STOOD FOR THIRTY YEARS.

Away back in the history of the dominion of Canada, in the days following upon confederation, when it had been definitely decided that a railway must be built from ocean to ocean, there arose a great question as to what route this road must follow to cross the mountains and reach the Coast. The question passed beyond one of pure engineering and became one of the political questions of the day. One political party, the liberal party, led by Alexander MacKenzie, contended that the route from the plains to the Pacific was via the then little-known Yellowhead Pass and he sent his surveyors into the wilderness to lay out the route. At this present date, forty years later, the Canadian Northern is announcing that it will have completed its main line within a year, a line which follows the old MacKenzie survey mile for mile from Edmonton to Burrard Inlet, almost without a variation, and the Grand Trunk Pacific is announcing that it will have completed within the year its main line, which follows the MacKenzie survey for nearly four hundred miles to the west of this city, and reaches the Coast by following the first alternative route chosen by the MacKenzie engineers, the Skeena River route which terminated—according to the explorations then made—at Port Simpson.

At the same time another political party, the conservative party, contended that the Yellowhead route was too far north, and urged that the Crows' Nest route was the correct route through the mountains. With the conservatives, then in the opposition, the choice of the southern route became a matter of party policy and by all the rules of the game the success of the conservative party at the polls should have meant the choice of the Crows' Nest route for the first railway across the Dominion.

But later, when the conservative party came into power, with Sir John MacDonald at its head, that leader compromised between the claims of the northern route and those of the southern, and chose a middle course, by selecting the Kicking Horse as the route across the mountains.

After having used the Kicking Horse route for twenty-eight years, the Canadian Pacific railway's annual report, under date of August 13 and bearing the signature of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, announces that it is not the intention of the directors to proceed with the double tracking of the main line, at least along the more difficult sections, "until the Kettle Valley line has been completed between Midway and Hope, in 1915, giving an alternative line between Medicine Hat and the Coast."

It is not often that the test of time will vindicate both parties holding opposite views, but in this matter of the most desirable pass through the mountains it is now plain that both parties were right—that either the Yellowhead or the Crows' Nest would have served the purpose for a transcontinental, and that the blunder was when a compromise was attempted between the opposing views. Defense of the compromise was only sustainable so long as neither of the other routes was tried. Now that the Canadian Northern approaches the Coast along the original MacKenzie route the Canadian Pacific, in order to meet it, is compelled to complete its Crows' Nest route by linking up Kootenay Landing with Nelson and Midway with Hope, thus abandoning the defense of a blunder which has stood for thirty years.

LIKE CONDITIONS PRODUCE LIKE RESULTS

After a round of the rooming houses, boarding houses and other places in which more than one family are harbored under one roof, the medical health officer reports that conditions exist in the city of Edmonton which, to say the least, are not creditable to the city. Men in bunches have been found sleeping in cellars. Others have been found sleeping on shelves nailed around the walls of a room no larger than rightfully required by one lodger. Crowding has been discovered in many places. The chances for contagion in case of an epidemic, as the report shows, are tremendous, to say nothing of the unhealthy effect of these insanitary conditions upon those who endure them.

To those in touch, the medical health officer's revelations were unnecessary. Newspaper men, the police and civic officials whose duties take them into every habitation have known of their existence for a long time, but to "make a hole" about them is usually construed into "knocking" and generally results as a boomerang against the person who goes to the trouble of pointing out the conditions.

However, now that the medical health officer has taken it on himself as a part of the duties of his office to bring out the fact that in a town which was almost raw prairie ten years ago slum conditions are already commencing to appear, the subject is open for discussion.

No one would be foolish enough to infer that the persons living under the conditions pointed out by the medical health officer do so from choice. Obviously they live in these conditions because they cannot afford better. The reason why they cannot afford better is because rents are too high. Rents are high because the price of land is high. Land values mount higher and higher as the proportion of the amount which the producer is allowed to consume becomes less and the amount which he is compelled to pay as rent for living on the land becomes more.

The circle is thus complete, and all the arguments, theories, philosophies and dogmatic economies will not break it. Every worker who pays rent realizes, consciously or subconsciously, that the man who owns the land owns the labor of he who lives on the land. The effect is the same here as in London, England, or New York. The medical health officer's discovery that slum conditions have commenced to show in Edmonton is merely corroborative of the ancient axiom that like conditions produce like results. There is a remedy, but for the public man who would champion it Golgotha is not far off. It is the nationalization of the land.

THE AMENDMENT TO THRESHERS' LIEN ACT

With the threshing season at hand it will be well for farmers to remember that there was an amendment to the threshers' lien act passed at the last session which guarantees the wages of the threshing crew out of the cost of the threshing, an arrangement which makes it advisable for the farmers to satisfy themselves that the wages of the threshing crew have been paid before paying their threshing bills, or at least have some reasonable guarantee that the wages are being paid. As the act stands now the threshing crew can hold the owner of the grain in the same way that the mechanic can hold the house-owner for his wages. As a protection for the employees on the threshing crew, who have hitherto stood to lose in case the thresherman was dishonest or insolvent, the bill had become necessary. There is no injustice about it, so far as the farmer is concerned, as it does not add to the cost of his threshing. But it will stand him in hand, nevertheless, in settling for his threshing, to be careful that there is no claim for wages left outstanding.

TWO DEALS IN WHICH THE CITY WAS INTERESTED.

Just incidentally, and while the subject is in mind, it is worthy of note that the amount of the loss to the city through having to accept 93 from the Kleinworts where the city had the bonds sold at 95 is just about the total cost to the city for the car barns, over which there was so much fuss.

There is this difference in the net results from the two items of business, however, that whereas the car barn was investigated from mudsill to stringer and where all kinds of blunders were charged against several municipal employees, the thresher who goes out in a general northeasterly direction, can not fail to see a large red building which will impress any unprejudiced observer with the consciousness that the city at least got quite a considerable pile of bricks and mortar for its money; but in the case of the Kleinwort deal the most comprehensive investigation—which will certainly not be made—would fail to discover anything accruing to the city in return for the hundred and seventy-seven thousand which has slipped except a large and thoroughly opaque vacuum.

TROUBLE BREWING IN THE ORIENT.

Reports from Nankin indicate that the Chinese have commenced slaughtering Jap residents of that city. That the Japs will fall to resent this is altogether improbable, and the outcome may be another war in which the great Asiatic races will clash for supremacy in the Orient.

In its present divided state, China could scarcely offer an adequate defense and the well-known ambition of the Japs to force themselves into the position of control of China makes it highly improbable that they will hesitate to take advantage of the situation.

TODAY IN DOMINION HISTORY.

Baron John Edman Dieckau, commander of French troops in Canada, died in Surinam, France, of wounds received during his Canadian campaign, on this date in 1767. He was a soldier of Saxony and began his military career under Marshal Saxe. He was a major-general in the French service, when, in 1755, with a thousand French and Indians, he entered Lake Champlain to attack Fort Edward and surprised and defeated the English troops sent to oppose him. In the pursuit which followed his victory his red-skin warriors deserted him, and a desperate conflict with the British ensued, in which, after losing all his men and being severely wounded, he was made a prisoner. After being exchanged in 1763 he returned to France to die.

One year from today will mark the centenary of the birth of Charles Eugene Brasseur du Bourbourg, the famous French archaeologist and theologian, and author of a "Histoire du Canada." He obtained the material for this historical work while serving as a priest in Canada from 1815 to 1848.

A treaty of peace was made with the troops at Montreal on this date in 1700. The formal articles of capitulation, by which Montreal and all Canada were transferred to the British dominions, were signed on this date in 1760. A destructive earthquake shook the coast of Nova Scotia caused much damage 14 years ago today. Charles Palmerston, American Episcopal bishop, was born at Kempsville, Ont., 50 years ago today.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Kauffman, Author of "House of Bondage," is 30 Today. Iredell Wright Kauffman, whose recent books have given him an international reputation, served his literary apprenticeship as a newspaper reporter, and his success gave the lie to the outworn theory that journalism unfit a man for more permanent work in the world of letters. The author of "The House of Bondage," was born 35 years ago today in Columbia, Pa., and after leaving Harvard in 1881, became a reporter, and then an editorial and special writer, on a Philadelphia newspaper. For three years he was associate editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and later he held a similar position on The Delinquer.

Mr. Kauffman has recently spent several months in England, where "The House of Bondage," his novel of white slavery, under the title of "Daughters of Ishmael," resulted in the introduction of a new law in that country. The American author was honored with appointment as a member of the Criminal Amendment Law Committee of Great Britain, on which his associates include the Duchess of Bedford, Lord W. Langhorne, Brooke, Laurence, Houseman, Lady Balfour and others of prominence.

"The House of Bondage," has been translated into French, German, Swedish and Finnish, and is being widely read all over Europe. His new book, "Judith Kent; Free Woman," gives promise of being equally successful.

Mr. Kauffman holds many radical and even revolutionary views. One of the most startling of his theories is a complete reversal of the fifth commandment. Parents, he considers, are often reactionary and old-fashioned, and to preach that children should obey their parents is to stop the wheels of progress and civilization. "Parents obey their children," is a better commandment than the reverse form of the commandment, in the opinion of the author. "When I was a lad," says the author, "many of my companions were brought up in the old manner of subservience to parents. Today I find that most of these boys aged into men that are not one year in advance of subservience to parents. There have been more crimes committed in the name of family affection than in the name of liberty."

William Wymark Jacobs is the full name of the genial English author who is generally known as Mr. W. W. Jacobs, who is responsible for quite a lot of laughter in this dreary world, was born just half a century ago today, in London. From 1883 until 1899, the author was employed in the savings bank department of the English Civil Service. His first literary success, "Many Cargoes," was published in 1896, and was written during the intervals of leisure from his official duties. It was followed by "The Skipper's Wiving," another delightful tale of those who go down to the sea in ships, and "Sea Urchins," was brought out in the following year. "Light Freight," "Odd Craft" and other books fully established his reputation as a writer of delightful novels of the sea. The novelist is a joint author of several plays, the latest being "In the Library," which is peculiar and almost without precedent in that all the parts are for male actors.

Margaret Olivia Slocum Sago, almoner of the great fortune accumulated by her late husband, Russell Sago, was born in Syracuse, N. Y., 85 years ago today.

UNDERGROUND ROAD FROM CANADA AIDS CRIMINAL CHINESE

Used to Smuggle In Orientals and to Facilitate the Sale of Opium.

WHITE SLAVERY ALSO INCLUDED IN SCHEME

United States Federal Officials Start on Trail of Gigantic Organization of Corruption.

Washington, Sept. 8.—On the basis of the unofficial reports from Chicago concerning the discovery there of a Chinese "black book" with a list of addresses in various cities and marginal notes in Chinese characters listing names for the sale of opium, United States federal officials will start on the trail of what they suspect may be a giant organization of opium sellers, smugglers and white slave traffickers.

Anthony Gambetti, the new commissioner general of immigration, last night sent a despatch to the United States inspector of immigration at Chicago, directing him to place himself in touch with the Chicago police who have possession of the Chinese "black book," and obtain all the information regarding the case with a view to ascertaining where the Chinese exclusion laws have been violated in smuggling over an "underground" road from Canada.

Customs Also Interested.
The special agents of the customs service will also look into the matter, as they, in particular, are interested in the violation of the opium law, while the immigration authorities are more particularly concerned over the alleged smuggling of Chinese into the country.

The following story came from Chicago Saturday:
"Discovery of an underground railway for the smuggling of Chinese fugitives from justice and to aid the entrance of Chinese to this country, was reported today by detectives at the murder of Charles King, a Chinese merchant."

The alleged conspiracy extends from British Columbia to Hong Kong, and has branches in many cities of this country, and at least one in Mexico. "Secrets of the underground were discovered in a raid of a room at a chop suey restaurant in North Chicago street."

The police found the "black book" of the gang from which the alleged schemes in aid of the fugitives were planned. Arranged in alphabetical order, it gave the names of the agents of the organization in the various cities, the names of some of the notorious criminals in the country, the police say, and instructions were issued in Chinese characters.

The police also found scores of letters from white women. Among the cities listed in the "black book" are San Francisco, Seattle, Vancouver, Ann Arbor, Mich., Detroit, Mich., Boston, and Cambridge, Mass., and Escondido, Mexico.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY
If little stomach is sour, liver torpid and bowels clogged

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow.
If your little one is out of sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother, see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.
Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and their daily life is pleasant again. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.
Beware of counterfeit! The syrup. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

DUN'S DISCOVERS BIG IMPROVEMENT AS TO SENTIMENT
Satisfactory Results Assured in Conditions Surrounding Harvesting.

WEATHER IN EDMONTON PUTS LIFE IN BUSINESS
Gross Earnings of Railroads Reporting for August Show Loss Compared to Same Period Last Year.

New York, Sept. 8.—Disputes at Dun's Review from the branch offices of R. G. Dun and company in leading trade centres of the Dominion of Canada report a notable improvement in sentiment, as the harvesting season is now well advanced and satisfactory results are assured.
Montreal reports that "fall trade is beginning to open up, and that while considerable conversation is evident, the general opinion is that the season's business will be at least normal. There is a fair inquiry for dry goods and a reasonable movement of groceries, but footwear is quiet. Business at Toronto has been greatly helped by the National Exhibition, sorting-up orders for a big demand for all kinds of goods. Ladies wear is quiet, but firm, while hides and wool are in ample supply."

The northwest promises a large yield of grain and outlooks are hopeful.

Foaling of Canevations.
The retail trade at Hamilton is fair, but there is apparently a feeling of conservatism, merchants purchasing closely and awaiting developments. In the far west and northwest the situation shows marked improvement with the assurance of all kinds of wearing apparel, dry goods, furs and jewelry, and the outlook promising for a very satisfactory season.

Mineral springing is still evident at Regina, some improvement is noticeable and a more optimistic feeling prevails in banking and commercial circles. Gross earnings of Canadian railways reporting for August show a loss of 3.8 per cent as compared with the earnings of the same roads for the corresponding period a year ago.
Commercial failures in the Dominion of Canada last week numbered 19 against 28 last week and 21 the same week last year.

HALDANE'S WORDS NOW INTERESTING LONDON'S PAPERS

Comments Indicate that His Idea is Held as Difficult of Attainment.

NOT CONSIDERED CURE FOR MALADY OF WAR

Point Made that the "Sermon on the Mount" Might as Well be Policy Instead of Taxation of Land.

London, Sept. 8.—When it became known in England that Lord Haldane's address to Montreal reflected, if not exactly the official policy, at least the official aspirations of the British Empire, the London papers and some papers, which at the time of the delivery of the address published only a summary, afterward printed it in extenso.

Under the title of "The inadequacy of 'Sittlichkeit' the Nation says: "The great paradox of international politics is that, while war is everywhere recognized as both a folly and a crime, preparation for this crime and folly is also recognized as the paramount duty of the state. To prescribe 'Sittlichkeit' in the sense of good form, obedience to the accepted conventions of conduct as a cure for this malady is like setting up the Sermon on the Mount as the alternative policy to the taxation of land values."

The speaker considers "Sittlichkeit" of rival nations a contradiction in terms, but agrees that the United States is a "country which makes good use of all approaches the necessary conditions in its relations to ourselves."

WINNIPEG PIONEER DEAD.

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—The death of another old-timer of Winnipeg and the vest in the person of Charles Parkin, suddenly occurred yesterday. Mr. Parkin was employed with the Winnipeg school board for 10 years, and also had charge of the horses at the exhibitions for the same length of time. MISS BOARDMAN WINS NEW HONORS AS TEA BREWER

One, I believed in God, and then I doubted him—and, later still, I found another, better God. Applauded as I cursed; I find With patient search for something lost. (How many the same path have trod)

Through tears and fears, at awful cost. I found another, better God And yet, sometimes at night, I find The old one wrestling with my mind.

Program Arranged to Mark First Anniversary of Coming of Orpheum Shows to Town.

To celebrate the first anniversary of the advent of the Orpheum circuit to Edmonton, Manager W. D. Hughes offers a birthday bill the first half of this week, starting with a matinee today, which has been arranged with a view of marking the coming of the first high-class variety to the Capital City. To late glory, believed of course, if comedy, devotes throughout America, falls the honor of headlining the anniversary entertainment. She is assisted by Thomas B. Richards, a well-known Colorado singer, and a well-selected company. Their latest vehicle is known as "First Love" and sparkles with up-to-date dialogue and wit, as well as a tear or two.

Two better known negro impersonators, Sutton, McIntyre and Sutton, a trio of so different entertainers, offer a happy mixture of song, dance and acrobatics under the title of "The Pumpkin Girl," while the three Langsons, assisted by a quartet of automobile, point audiences to a high pitch of enthusiasm with their nonsensical antics. George, known as the "little dynamo of vaudeville," comes from the family known as the "Four Ws," and this power number of a popular organization in the musical comedy ranks is equally as clever as her older relatives. Sidney and Towler, after the very latest European novelty, and Khim's Entertainers, a variety of animals, have the last word in their respective field.

CURTAIN LORE.

A new way of draping bedroom curtains of sheer soft thin materials like cascading cloth, cotton voile, marquisette or net, is to hang a single width at each end of the pole and let it fall in straight folds to the floor. The books supporting these straight widths occupy about one-third of the space at each end of the pole and next to them are suspended two double widths of material, both of which are hooked back at the window sill, but while at the top one of these widths falls naturally, the upper inch is hooked over the first one and hooked to the pole within three inches of the window sill. Finally, several feet from the pole at the opposite side of the window, this overlapping curtain is partly caught back by a narrow ribbon or twist of silk starting from the sill in the space at the top of the window, which draped back curtains always form, and it is less stiff in appearance than is the short width of curtaining sometimes employed to obviate the abrupt break at the centre of the window pole.

To Miss Bates, Miss Aylesworth attributes the Toronto players at the Lyceum Theatre, the honor two or three years ago of being chosen in the role of Rosy Tremaine, "the girl of the golden West," in the play of that name by none other than Blanche Bates, the famous American actress who created this part in New York City.

Manager Aylesworth and the Lyceum leading lady happened to be visiting at the summer home of Miss Bates at Oshkosh, N.Y., during the heated term, and Miss Aylesworth expressed herself as being anxious to play the role of Rosy Tremaine in the title role of the Lyceum company, but Miss Bates refused the suggestion for three weeks, giving pointers here and there throughout the act.

BEST FARCE IN MANY SEASONS

"Officer 666," Which Comes to Empire Has Interesting Plot.

"Officer 666," which ran last season at the Gaiety theatre in New York City, will be seen at the Empire Theatre, 771 day and Saturday. This play is full of risible tricks and melodramatic moments that start a wave of shivers thrilling each other up and down the spine, and end in an uncontrollable burst of laughter at the funny antics of this particular policeman who, in an unexpected moment, is induced to part with his uniform for a brief period, while the heroine of the play, endeavoring to rescue a lady fair from the web of complications that have been woven round her by the machinations of an insatiably famous picture thief, "Officer 666" is really the best farce of the season.

It has all the elements that go to make a successful play, less of which is a charming love interest, whereby Cupid matches his wits against the stern arm of the law and wins a complete victory.

her unprecedented success in a role she regards as one of the finest in her repertoire of almost 100 plays. The rare, free western girl who manages to live among rough miners and humbles them to such an extent as to make them bend to her will, also considers an ideal character both from the standpoint of the audience and the artist portraying this unusual girl.

Miss Aylesworth will be seen as Rosy Tremaine in "The Girl of the Golden West" at the Lyceum Theatre all this week, starting with a performance tonight.

NOT LIKELY TO HOLD STATE BALL.

London, Sept. 8.—There are many rumors concerning the entertainments to be given by the king and queen in Buckingham Palace in the autumn. Among others it is suggested that the marriages of Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Duchess of Fife be preceded by a state ball, but this is hardly likely as there are not many people back in town in October when the wedding is to take place. The king and queen will be here only for a few days, going back to York Cottage as soon as the wedding is over.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION IS BEST FOR CITY

Sir Joseph Beecham of St. Helens is Visitor in Edmonton Today.

ENDORSES SYSTEM IN USE BY AMERICAN CITIES

Old Country Communities Should Adopt the Same Plan—Their Present Method Too Cumbersome.

The commission form of government was endorsed by Sir Joseph Beecham, the pit manufacturer, who visited Edmonton over the week-end. Sir Joseph, who has attained fame the world over as a millionaire philanthropist and authority on municipal government, is discussing municipal matters, Sir Joseph, who was registered at the Albert, stated that this was the fifth trip he had made to the North American continent, and, on previous trips, he had made a study of the various forms of municipal government. "I have no hesitation in stating," said Sir Joseph, "that, in my opinion, the system of government by commissioners, as used in the United States, is the best, and is worthy of serious attention in the old country."

It was not to prevent corruption that he considered that commissioners might be appointed by Edmonton, but because the present system is a cumbersome one. As an example, Sir Joseph pointed to the town of St. Helens, Lancashire, of which he has been mayor for several years. In that city, which has a population of approximately 100,000, 27 councillors are elected. The councillors proceed to elect nine aldermen, and the mayor is elected by the whole body of 36. The real business of the council is transacted by the various committees, but must be formally approved by the council as a whole. The great drawback to the system, in Sir Joseph's opinion, lies in the large number of members of the council, which makes the handling of business complicated and slow. Much time is often wasted before the whole council can be made to come to a decision.

Another drawback to the English system is the fact that it is almost impossible for any but a rich man to hold the office of mayor, as the position is an honorary one, and a great deal of entertaining has to be done. "In my own case," said Sir Joseph, "it cost me $10,000 a year to be mayor of St. Helens."

Sir Joseph was particularly interested in the Edmonton tramway problem. In the Edmonton tramway problem, Sir Joseph was particularly interested in the Edmonton tramway problem. In the Edmonton tramway problem, Sir Joseph was particularly interested in the Edmonton tramway problem.

Women's suffrage does not find a very strong advocate in Sir Joseph. "In Lancashire," he said, "the women have rather a rough and ready way of dealing with the militants, which has so far protected us from their efforts. For we have not yet had a single letter destroyed by the acids which the suffragettes are so fond of pouring in to the letter boxes."

Sir Joseph added that the majority of the women in Lancashire have been looking after their homes to have much time to waste in endeavoring to obtain the vote.

First Time Here.

Though he has visited the United States and Canada, on 28 occasions, this is the first time that Sir Joseph has been in Edmonton. "I have long wanted to see the city," he stated. "I have heard so many wonderful tales in England of its phenomenal development, but for one reason or another, I have always been prevented from doing so. On this trip I determined that I would not return home until I had actually visited Edmonton, and seen for myself the wonderful progress which has been made."

Sir Joseph is recognized as probably the largest and most enterprising advertiser in England. The main object of his present trip to Edmonton is a large scheme of advertising throughout Canada and the United States. Sir Joseph, who is accompanied by his advertising manager, Edward Glover, has visited all the eastern Canadian cities, including Montreal, Toronto, and Winnipeg. From Edmonton Sir Joseph will go to Vancouver and other cities, returning home by way of Chicago and New York.

CRITICISM OF CITY TREES ANSWERED BY MR. AUBERG

Ex-superintendent Replies to Letter of Edmonton Horticultural Society.

STATES THAT TREES IN CITY ARE WELL PLANTED

Outlines His Work Since He Started Four Years Ago When Only a Few Trees Grew Wild in Municipal Nursery.

Before leaving tomorrow on an extended hunting trip into the Peace River country, ex-superintendent of parks, P. A. von Auberg, has addressed a long letter to the Edmonton Horticultural Society, in which he severely criticizes the Edmonton Horticultural Society for a letter they wrote some time ago in which the trees planted on the city boulevards and the methods of planting them were attacked. Mr. von Auberg gives a history of tree planting in the city and proves that the four years in which he has been in charge have been for the most part correct. He states in part:

"The society states that the tree planting in our city is a total failure. As far as the tree planting on the boulevards is concerned, this is not correct. Anybody going through streets like Seventh, Street, and so on, will be convinced that this statement made by the society is not borne out by facts. The tree planting of the city has been under my eye for the last four years. When I started a few old specimens of nutmeg maple and a hybrid poplar in the old nursery at 10th Street, where all I had on hand. These trees had been allowed to grow wild and to be trimmed."

The same held true of trees planted on the boulevards, notably on Seventh Street, which looked like overgrown bushes, with stout branches sprouting out from the trunk sometimes not more than three feet from the ground. Private nurseries did not exist which could furnish enough trees for the needs of the city. The trees that were shipped in from the outside were generally inferior material, packed in bundles with sawdust unselected, but as they were sold to the city with a guarantee that they would be replaced if they died, the nursery men were called upon to make good. There was considerable correspondence, and an attempt was made to prove that it was not their fault that the trees had died."

Another criticism has been made regarding the selection of trees for different streets. Some are contending that it would be better able to plant quick growing tree like Russian poplar, alternating with a slow growing tree like ash or Manitoba maple. In order to give people a certain amount of shade by the quick growing tree, while the slow growing one has time to develop. I freely admit that this is a matter of taste, but in my opinion a street planted uniformly with one kind of tree only presents a much better appearance."

"This year we have been able to have a large percentage of our trees planted in the city. Another large percentage were trees at Fiddlers, Saskatchewan, as their climate was the same as ours. In this, I heartily agree with the Edmonton Horticultural Society's opinion that the climate of the city is not as good as trees grown here, but I contend that for a year or two more it will be necessary to import at least some, unless we want to order from local nurseries, who in turn will import from an outside source."

"Even with home grown trees, tree planting on a large scale is difficult in this country. I am sure that I could get more of them to grow, but the planting season is so short, practically, that we have to make the most of it. The 10,000 odd trees and shrubs which were planted this year had to be planted in a large gang of men, and while some of them are experienced tree planters, most of them were posed as such, were cabbage growers, or but home gardeners who only claimed to know something about tree planting, but did not. I had to discharge 27 of these in two days, as they did more harm than good, and were impervious to instruction. That tree planting is difficult, is demonstrated by the fact that of all the trees planted round the city, several hundred excellent specimens of spruce grown in Edmonton and planted in the city at a cost of $100,000, are now dead. The Edmonton Horticultural Society, in its letter, stated that the city was doing well in the selection of trees well undoubtedly be a guarantee of what to plant in the future. Our only hope should be to raise enough trees in Edmonton in our city nursery to provide for the needs of the city, leaving it to private nurseries to provide for private demands."

WINNIPEG WHEAT MARKET STAYS UP

United States Prevents Drop Which Might be Expected Result Liverpool

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—United States markets in wheat and oats were upheld by the high prices of corn and this prevented Winnipeg taking a decided drop which might have been anticipated from a decline in Liverpool.

Winnipeg wheat, however, opened 1/2 lower and was steady with an inclination to go up on any appearance of strength at Minneapolis. Today's market showed that the new crop is moving freely, there being 200 cars shipped and 400 in sight. Western country ideal for threshing and delivery. Liverpool market closed 1/2 lower, Paris unchanged to 1/2 lower, Berlin 1/2 lower, Antwerp unchanged.

MANN TROPHY TO STAY WITH V.A.C.

Armstrong Team Made Good Showing But Not the Same Class.

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—Scoring in the last two periods practically at will, the V.A.C. team, defenders of the Mann cup, pulled out a run-away victory against Armstrong Saturday in the first of two games for the coveted silverware.

The Armstrong boys made a good showing in the first period, putting up goals against the V.A.C. goal, but after that it was all Vancouver with a vengeance, the challengers failed to make a goal and when defence Lynch blew his whistle at the end of play the score stood with the balance immediately in the local team's favor, being represented by no less than 16 goals to 2. The final match is scheduled for Wednesday. There is not much chance for Armstrong to lift the cup.

TODAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS.

1897.—Kid McCoy and Tommy Ryan fought five rounds in Syracuse. Honors were about evenly divided when the Salt City cops butted in and put an end to the ruckus. Syracuse was Ryan's home town, and the crowd was with him and objected vigorously at the official interference, which came soon after Tommy had landed a vicious left-hand blow on the Hoosier. In a previous fight Ryan had underestimated the kid, and was thoroughly whipped, and in the Syracuse bout he was out for revenge. McCoy fought with his usual cleverness. On that same night Homer Selby, the young brother of McCoy, was one of the "pencil" boxes.

1909.—Ad Wolgast and Matty Baldwin fought 12-round draw at Boston.

1911 Willie Ritchie defeated Johnny McCarthy in 10 rounds at Oakland.

SPORTOGRAPHY.

CALIFORNIA PIONEERS WERE DEVOTED TO BOXING GAME

California will tomorrow pay its annual tribute of respect to the '40'ers, those brave and hardy pioneers who put the Golden Gate on the map of the Union. It is worth while recording that these Argonauts were considerable boxing fans, and from the very first California was a Mecca for the pugilists. The tin-born gumbler and other respectable parties usually settled their arguments with a pistol or a dagger, but the real pioneer who the natives soon decided to honor was a sturdy, two-fisted gent who took naturally to the fair, stand-up encounter with the fists as a means of settling a difference of opinion. In those early days on the coast real prize fights were held with bare knuckles and to a finish. The present style of boxing, which the reformers are now trying to prohibit, in California, would seem mighty tame to a '40'er.

John Morrissey was one of the first of the great fighters to scrap in California, and in his wake have come the most credible heroes of the last 40 years. Jeffries and Corbett both began fighting on the coast, and the latter was a native son. Bob Fitzsimmons fought his first American bouts in San Francisco. Jeff's great battles, including those with Fitzsimmons, Munroe, Rulhine, Chynski and others, were fought on the coast. In fact, no other state, not even New York, has ever witnessed so many sensational boxing matches. Among the notable contests staged in the Golden State may be recalled the Corbett-Whitely, Jackson-Corbett, Corbett-Chynski, Fitzsimmons-O'Brien, Fitzsimmons-Gardner, O'Brien-Burns, Hart-Johnson, Johnson-McVey, Nelson-Britt, Fane-Smith, O'Connell-Kid, Moran, Johnson-Kelch, McFarland-Welsh, Ketchel-Papke, Nelson-Young Corbett, Langstaff-Burns, and many other historic contests between the stars of the pugilistic arena. Many of these battles have been fought on Admission Day, and since that holiday was established it has been a festival of the boxing fans.

"Life"—as the philosopher George M. Cohen has observed—"is a very funny proposition after all." All good people know that a boxer is a low-browed, brutal brute, and yet when one of them is accidentally killed they set up a wail as if he had been their nearest and dearest relation. If that boxer had repented him of his evil ways, and had gone to work in a coal mine, and his life had been shortened by the cruelty of the stockholders—good people, all—nobody, I take it, and I think you will take it, would have given a sentimental wailing. Truly, we strain at a go-cart and swallow a motor truck.

WEEK'S PERMITS LARGE.

Notwithstanding the baleness of the season, the building inspectors' weekly reports still indicate that there is a large amount of building operations still proposed for this season. The total amount of the permits taken out this week reaches the sum of $79,700. As there have been no very large buildings recorded for the week, this sum represents principally ordinary private residences and other small additions and improvements to existing premises.

VANCOUVER CHIEF IMPROVES.

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—There is a distinct improvement in the condition of Chief of Police Charles Mulhern, though it is stated that his is but of a temporary nature. His medical advisers are of the opinion that another attack similar to the last would be fatal.

Famine seriously threatening because of the drought, the Chinese in Honan district took their goods out of their temples and set them in the sun to bake until they should appreciate the need of rain.
